CORN, SOYBEAN SHOW ATTRACTS MANY ENTRANTS

Countians Move Into City For C. Of C.'s Second Annual Event

DISPLAYS PUT IN PLACE

Reservations Closed For Banquet, Highlight Of Big Program

Farmers from all over Pickaway County brought prize seeking corn and soybean exhibits from their local farmers' institutes and their homes into Memorial Hall, Friday, for entry in the second annual Corn and Soybean Show.

Shortly before noon, Ervin Yeoman, in charge of registration of exhibits, reported that seventy entries had been listed and before the show officially opened at 1:30 officials estimated that the number was nearly 100. Most entries were made in Class A of the corn division, which includes ten ears of Clagare. Soybean entries came in slower.

Kenneth Shuman opened the program Friday afternoon with a report on state soybean tests. His report was followed by a similar one for the county by County Agent F. K. Blair. E. F. Johnson, St. Louis representative of the Ralston-Purina Company, talked on "The Soybean Situation" and D. R. Dodd, Ohio State University, on "Soil Building Practices" during the afternoon session.

Reservations Closed

Officials in charge of the banquet, to be held Friday at 6:30 at the American Hotel Hurricane, said that all reservations had been taken, hotel employees preparing for 125 persons. I. W. Kinsey, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will act as presiding officer. Music during the banquet will be furnished by Circleville High School students under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein.

Principal speaker of the evening will be Russell G. East, representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who will talk on "Progress in Industrial Uses of Farm Products." Prizes and awards will be distributed by George Foreman, chairman of the finance committee. Awards will be made in silver dollars, as they were last year.

Show Rooms Stay Open

Show rooms in Memorial Hall will be open all day Saturday, with a general discussion of hybrid corn at 2 p. m. being the special feature Saturday afternoon. Commercial exhibits have been set up in the hall and will be on display Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. Booth exhibitors include the Hill Implement Company, the Roger Hedges Seed Company, Ralston-Purina Company, John W. Eshelman and Sons, the Pickaway Grain Company, the Welch Chemical Company, the Nitragin Company, the Hefner Grain Company, the Croman Hatchery, the Pickaway County Farm Bureau, Ruff Seed Corn Producers, Ohio Pioneer Hybrid Corn Company and the Winorr Canning Company.

SHANGHAI HEARS TOKYO'S FLEET MASSED

BOY, 3, REFUSES TO BE KIDDED ABOUT SISTER, SO HE PAYS FOR HER

CHARDON, O., Feb. 14—Jimmy Vins, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vins of nearby Novelty, today found out he wasn't being kidded when he was told some time ago he could have a baby sister if he saved his money.

Jimmy collected pennies from neighbors and all who came to the house. When time came to pay Dr. W. A. Reed for bringing his sister Jimmy got out his tin can bank and poured 1300 pennies into the surprised physician's hands.

INVASION PORTS HIT IN DAYLIGHT

British Planes Toss Big Bombs On French Area; Dover Watches Fight

LONDON, Feb. 14—Planes of the Royal Air Force carried out a daylight sweep of German invasion ports along the French coast today.

Heavy explosions were heard. The sky above the French channel area was dotted with the black puffs of bursting anti-aircraft shells.

A single German Messerschmitt 109 which came over while the attack was in progress was shot down into the channel.

LONDON, Feb. 14—A brief but sharp aerial battle was fought in the clouds above the Straits of Dover today when a squadron of British Spitfire planes intercepted German fighting craft.

Residents of the Kent Coast heard bursts of machine gun fire and saw planes wheeling and diving in combat.

One aircraft, with black smoke pouring from its tail, vanished into the haze over the sea.

After the battle ended the British planes returned in formation.

RAF PLANES HIT TIRANA, DURAZZO IN HEAVY RAIDS

ATHENS, Feb. 14—A violent attack by Royal Air Force planes on the vital Albanian airdromes at Tirana and Durazzo, the two chief cities still held by Italian forces, was announced in Athens today.

A series of raids described as the "heaviest and most successful" yet launched since the Albanian campaign began were carried out Wednesday night and yesterday.

Airdrome buildings and hangars were hit and four Italian bombers destroyed by fire on the ground at Tirana.

Tepeleni is expected to fall momentarily.

Late dispatches from the front said that fall of Tepeleni was imminent and that the Greek forces encircling the town had been strengthened.

On the northern front near Pogradec, it was added, Hellenic warriors advanced several miles with the aid of artillery support. In the Skumbi and Devoli valleys, violent fighting resulted when the Greeks encountered strong Italian resistance.

NORRIS TO LEAD FIGHT IN SENATE FOR LEASE BILL

Nebraska Solon Declares He's For Disarming All Of Germany

SAYS NEUTRALITY GONE

Foes Prepare To Battle To End Against Major Legislation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Frankly conceding that the lend-lease bill abandons American neutrality "to some extent" and gives Hitler an excuse to declare war "with some plausibility," Sen. George Norris (I) Neb., nevertheless today demanded early passage of the British aid measure.

The 79-year-old Nebraskan—one of six who voted against war in 1917 in the senate—is expected to become the spear-head of an administration drive to convert liberals to its foreign policy.

With senate leaders proposing to pass the bill after 10 days debate, almost a record for speed on a far-reaching measure, foes mapped plans for determined opposition beginning on Monday.

Norris not only proposed that America provide the aid to enable Great Britain to attain supremacy in the air and thus "crack" Hitler's legions, but he urged complete disarmament of Germany as a term of peace. He said, however, he would not today vote to put America in the war.

Opportunity Provided

"Some things done under the bill would justify with some plausibility Hitler making war on us, but if there were any likelihood of that Hitler has had opportunities," Norris said. "He would have to admit that his chances of winning the war would be less if he declared war on us. I don't think he will."

While Majority Leader Barkley said that no further material concessions were planned by the administration, a group of influential senators on the foreign relations committee broached a proposal to further restrict Mr. Roosevelt's power to select countries to be aided.

The proposed amendment would limit him to aiding countries "which are invaded, which are threatened with invasion or whose defense is in the interest of national defense." The bill now limits the President only by needs of national defense.

This concession was urged by some friends of Wendell L. Willkie after the committee refused to seriously consider his proposal to name countries to be aided.

While Minority Leader McNary declined to reveal his attitude, there were reports that he will vote for the bill if some more limitations are imposed on presidential power. Cooperating with Democratic leaders, Sen. Austin (R) Vt. made a drive for Republican votes. It was reported that

TWO OHIO MEN KILLED BY FAST PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN

NEWCOMERTOWN, Feb. 14—Conley O. Taylor, 56-year-old hardware store proprietor, and Cleveland Decker, 55-year-old farmer, were dead today, victims of a truck-train crash in Newcomertown.

The victims' truck was struck by the fast eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train Spirit of St. Louis. Decker was dead on arrival at a Coshocton hospital and Taylor died a few hours later.

Coroner D. M. Ceramella and Sheriff John McIntosh, after a preliminary investigation, said Watchman Asa W. Norman, on duty at the crossing, previously had stopped another car.

The deaths bring Tuscarawas County's 1941 traffic toll to 14.

Champion in 1940, Spaniel Again Best-In-Show

WINNER of the best-in-show laurels in the 1940 Westminster Kennel club dog show in New York, My Own Brucie, a cocker spaniel owned by Herman E. Mellenthin of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., again is adjudged the champion dog in the Westminster show, just concluded.

DARING PARACHUTE RAID BY BRITISH NIPPED, ROME SAYS

ROME, Feb. 14—A daring but futile attempt by British parachute troops to wreck lines of communication and water supplies in vital regions of Italy was disclosed by the Italian high command today.

In the first known instance of the use of parachute troops by the British army, crack troops armed with machine-guns, hand grenades and high explosives were dropped from the skies in the Calabria and Lucania regions.

All were taken prisoner and succeeded in doing only slight damage, the high command said.

The communique revealing the abortive attempt said: "On the night of February 10, the enemy landed detachments of parachute troops in the region of Calabria and Lucania."

"They were armed with machine-guns, hand grenades and high explosives and were assigned to the task of interrupting and damaging our means of communications as well as the water-mains in the region."

"Thanks to the prompt intervention of our sentries, all the enemy parachutists were captured before they could do much damage."

"An exchange of firing took place as a result of which one sentry and one civilian were killed."

The communique gave no hint as to the number of planes or men involved in the venture nor was it disclosed whether the British attempt differed in any respect from the highly successful German parachute invasions of the lowlands. The clash which followed the landings was not described. It was the first exchange of shots between British and Italian troops on this country's soil.

SERIES OF ARMY PLANE MISHAPS TO BRING PROBE

BALBOA, C. Z., Feb. 14—Spurred to action by a series of four American Army air crashes in two days, Col. A. H. Gilkeson, commander of the pursuit and fighter defenses of the Panama Canal, today ordered a sweeping investigation into the possibility of sabotage.

All scheduled training flights and missions were cancelled pending a thoroughgoing inspection of all planes of the twelfth pursuit wing to determine whether any of the craft stationed at vital Albrook Field have been tampered with.

PITTSBURGERS TO STUDY ST. LOUIS SMOKE LAWS

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14—Pittsburgh's city councilmen will make a first-hand study of the smoke-laws that cleaned up St. Louis. The solons voted to make the trip in a body next week, leaving Pittsburgh Tuesday evening and arriving in St. Louis at 8:40 the following morning. Meantime, a steady deluge of letters requesting some sort of action to clean up Pittsburgh swamped the offices of the mayor and the councilmen.

Orders By U. S. To Citizens, Other Steps Watched

BANGKOK, Thailand, Feb. 14—British army, navy and air force contingents are massing along the southern and western borders of Thailand (Siam), according to reports received in Bangkok today.

Some advices indicated these concentrations are aimed at halting any Japanese drive through that region to the South.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14—Unconfirmed but persistent reports that the Japanese war fleet is concentrated off Haiphong, French Indo-China, electrified Shanghai today amid mounting fears of a crisis that might plunge the entire Orient and western Pacific into a new conflict.

Attempts to gain definite information on the Japanese warship concentration met with little success, but advices from all quarters indicated the Japanese apparently are engaged in major military preparations for their long-rumored drive to the South.

French circles in Shanghai in close touch with Saigon said reliable quarters there denied the reports of a Japanese naval concentration off Haiphong. American authorities likewise were unable to verify the reports.

Observers in Shanghai were more concerned with the sudden dramatic flight of Dutch vessels to Manila than with official circulars advising Americans to evacuate the Far East.

To Impress Envoy

Some circles expressed belief the circulars to Americans were more designed to impress Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, Japan's new ambassador to Washington, than to indicate serious American fears of a major Far Eastern crisis.

In this connection, it was pointed out that the press received copies of the circulars 24 hours before they were mailed to Americans in Shanghai and elsewhere.

Meanwhile another Dutch ship arrived at Shanghai from Japan today, refueled and sailed at once for Manila, while passengers aboard the vessel were notified their reservations had been cancelled and that their fares would be refunded.

Shanghai circles, pointing out that the Dutch are usually calm in the face of alarmist rumors, expressed belief that there must be some excellent reason for the orders to Dutch vessels to make for neutral ports.

A Japanese spokesman at a press conference declared the American action in urging United States citizens to evacuate the Far East was "strange" and incomprehensible to the Japanese.

He added that Japan would strive by all possible means to preserve peace in the Pacific, but that Japan would "take steps" if compelled to do so by foreign pressure.

The spokesman declared that desire to maintain peace in the Pacific was not only his personal sentiment, but that of all the Japanese people.

Berlin Remains Silent As Yugoslavians Arrive For Conference

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Feb. 14—Possibility of a three-way conference in Germany among Chancellor Hitler and leaders of both Yugoslavia and Bulgaria was reported in advices to Belgrade today after a sudden airplane dash to Germany by Yugoslavia's premier and foreign minister.

The reports said the suggested triangular meeting might lay the basis for a quick German military sweep across both Yugoslavia and Bulgaria against the Salonika region of Greece and the Dardanelles-Bosphorus region of Turkey.

Amid these reports Yugoslavian Premier Dragisha Cvetkovitch and Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar Marovic left Belgrade by special plane yesterday and arrived at Salzburg in response to an urgent summons from Chancellor Hitler.

There they were met by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who will escort them to Hitler's Berchtesgaden villa today.

Ultimatum Heard

Another diplomatic report said Hitler will give Yugoslavia 10 days to join the Rome-Berlin axis and to make concessions facilitating Germany's war plans in the Balkans.

Still another report, which was not confirmed, said that Tsar Boris of Bulgaria also is en route to Germany from Sofia for conversations with Hitler and the Yugoslavian statesmen.

Cvetkovitch and Cincar-Marovic are expected to do their utmost to keep Yugoslavia out of war and to provide stiff opposition to German demands that German troops gain free passage across Yugoslavia.

Previously the Yugoslavian foreign office notified Berlin that any demands for passage of German troops would be resisted. Today it appeared that all Yugoslavia is prepared to yield to Hitler in a pledge that Yugoslavia will remain strictly neutral and passive should German troops march through Bulgaria.

MEASLES, MUMPS TAKING TOLL OF SCHOOL PUPILS

Measles and mumps are causing large absentee lists in both city and county schools, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, reported Friday.

Most cases of measles are reported to be "three day" measles, the health commissioner said, and usually do not keep youngsters out of school more than a week. Although the disease itself is not dangerously serious, persons afflicted should stay in bed until they are over it, he warned. Unless victims are kept quiet eye defects may result.

Most of students with mumps are absent from ten days to two weeks, and likewise should stay in bed. No preventative measures, except elimination of undue exposure, can be taken for either disease.

The county at the present time is relatively free from other diseases, no cases of diphtheria or scarlet fever having been reported this year, a situation which is "very unusual," the health commissioner said.

ARMY DENIES EMERGENCY DECREE IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 14—United States Army officials in Manila today denied that leaves of absence have been cancelled for officers on tour of duty in the Philippines.

Unconfirmed reports had previously swept Manila that officers would remain at their posts instead of returning to the United States.

Tension eased somewhat among American civilians in Manila when the American President line announced the President Monroe would sail on schedule tomorrow for Singapore.

Some 350 wives and children of military personnel at the same time made ready to leave aboard army transports sailing for San Francisco within 10 days.

Speculation in Manila was intense over orders to Dutch East Indies merchant vessels in oriental trade routes to return home or anchor at British and American ports.

At the same time the United States Army was rapidly bringing the Philippine scouts to full strength authorized by President Roosevelt.

The reports said the suggested triangular meeting might lay the basis for a quick German military sweep across both Yugoslavia and Bulgaria against the Salonika region of Greece and the Dardanelles-Bosphorus region of Turkey.

Amid these reports Yugoslavian Premier Dragisha Cvetkovitch and Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Marcovic left Belgrade by special plane yesterday and arrived at Salzburg in response to an urgent summons from Chancellor Hitler.

There they were met by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who will escort them to Hitler's Berchtesgaden villa today.

Ultimatum Heard

Another diplomatic report said Hitler will give Yugoslavia 10 days to join the Rome-Berlin axis and to make concessions facilitating Germany's war plans in the Balkans.

Still another report, which was not confirmed, said that Tsar Boris of Bulgaria also is en route to Germany from Sofia for conversations with Hitler and the Yugoslavian statesmen.

Cvetkovitch and Cincar-Marcovic are expected to do their utmost to keep Yugoslavia out of war and to provide stiff opposition to German demands that German troops gain free passage across Yugoslavia.

Previously the Yugoslavian foreign office notified Berlin that any demands for passage of German troops would be resisted. Today it appeared that all Yugoslavia is prepared to yield to Hitler in a pledge that Yugoslavia will remain strictly neutral and passive should German troops march through Bulgaria.

MEASLES, MUMPS TAKING TOLL OF SCHOOL PUPILS

Measles and mumps are causing large absentee lists in both city and county schools, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, reported Friday.

Most cases of measles are reported to be "three day" measles, the health commissioner said, and usually do not keep youngsters out of school more than a week. Although the disease itself is not dangerously serious, persons afflicted should stay in bed until they are over it, he warned. Unless victims are kept quiet eye defects may result.

Most of students with mumps are absent from ten days to two weeks, and likewise should stay in bed. No preventative measures, except elimination of undue exposure, can be taken for either disease.

The county at the present time is relatively free from other diseases, no cases of diphtheria or scarlet fever having been reported this year, a situation which is "very unusual," the health commissioner said.

Eastern School Decides Too Much Stress Put On 'White Collar'

Virgil Poling, a 1930 graduate of Ohio State University and a native of Laurelville, has been chosen by Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., to inaugurate a new venture in liberal arts education.

Believing that "white collar" aspects of higher education have been overemphasized to the disadvantage of the nation, President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth has set up a student workshop with Poling in charge. In this way a liberal arts education at Dartmouth will include instruction in wood working and other manual crafts. The new work will be on a voluntary, no-credit basis.

Poling, who attended Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware two years before entering Ohio State, for eight years has been director of the fine arts department of the Harley Country Day School at Rochester, N. Y.

SMALL SISTERS KILLED IN FIRE; MOTHER BURNED

NEVERE, Mass., Feb. 14—Two small sisters perished today and their heroic mother was critically burned when fire swept their two story frame house.

Victims were Annette Perrier, 6, and her two-year-old sister, Alice. Mrs. Leo Perrier, 36, who led four of her children to safety, suffered serious burns when she attempted to reach her two babies trapped in their bedroom.

ANOTHER STRIKE VOTE CALLED AT CHICAGO PLANT

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 — The CIO Farm Equipment Workers organizing Committee prepared today to conduct a strike vote at the McCormick works of the International Harvester Company in Chicago. The vote will be taken tomorrow, the union announced.

Two other Harvester plants, the tractor works in Chicago and the Rock Island, Ill., factory, already have strikes in progress. In addition, the company's plant at Richmond, Ind., was threatened by a strike. At the tractor plant, 6,500 employees have been idle since January 29.

Approximately $10,000,000 in defense orders are affected by the strikes and threats of strikes. The FEWOC's demands include requests for recognition of the union, wage increases, disbanding of alleged "company unions" and guarantees of job security for employees conscripted.

Dr. Dreeman, who lived from 1754 to 1820, was the first to designate Ireland as the Emerald Isle, in a poem entitled "Erin."

INMATE KILLED BY ATTENDANTS AT BOY SCHOOL

ST. CHARLES, Ill., Feb. 14—Two men were in custody today as state and county authorities investigated circumstances of the death of a 16-year-old inmate of the St. Charles School for Boys who was alleged to have died after a beating.

The victim was James Williams, a Chicago Negro sent to the institution last year on a car theft charge. Those held were Robert Adams, an attendant at the school, and William Laird, acting house officer.

State's Attorney Charles G. Seidel said Adams admitted hitting Williams with a club in self defense when the boy struck at him with a broom.

According to stories given him,

ATTORNEY BUYS FARM FROM R. KENNETH KERR

LANCASTER, Feb. 14 — The Kenland Stock Farm, operated by Kenneth Kerr of Lancaster, was sold at public sale this week to J. M. Geohagen, Upper Arlington insurance man. Mr. Geohagen paid $71 an acre for the 182.41 acre property.

It was estimated that 5,000 persons attended the sale, which also saw much valuable stock change hands. More than $11,000 worth of chattels were sold.

RAIN AND COLDER PREDICTION FOR STATE WEATHER

By International News Service
Rain and colder temperatures struck Ohio today on the heels of spring-like weather which prevailed for the last two days.

The rain may change to snow later in the day, forecasters said, as the mercury tumbles to the freezing mark.

The state highway department reported Route 76 in Holmes County covered in places with two inches of water this morning but traffic was being maintained. Fog was reported along the Ohio River and a few scattered spots throughout the state.

The American people, we read, annually buy about 9,000,000,000 postage stamps bearing the likeness of George Washington. Bet that makes some movie stars jealous.

FUEHRER CALLS CHIEFS OF TWO BALKAN STATES

Reich Leader Seeks Path Through Neutral Areas To Move Soldiers

many, it was pointed out that Boris yesterday hastily returned to Sofia from his country estate and conferred with his cabinet. It was believed that if Boris goes to the Reich, he may be accompanied by both Premier Bogdan Filoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—German officials kept silent today regarding the visit to Germany of Yugoslavian Premier Dragishar Cvetkovitch and Alexander Cincar-Marcovic for a discussion of Balkan problems with Chancellor Hitler.

Authorities stated that details of the conference would not be released "for reasons of safety from enemy air attacks."

It was stated, however, that an official statement probably will be issued later in the day regarding the meeting of foreign statesmen in Germany.

But it was anticipated that the meeting between the fuhrer and the Balkan statesmen would define the exact status of Yugoslavia in forthcoming Balkan events.

(Editor's Note: Reports from the Balkans last night said that the meeting would be held at Berchtesgaden and that Yugoslavian diplomats had been greeted at Salzburg by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who also was scheduled to attend the conference.)

INVASION PORTS HIT IN DAYLIGHT

apparently without having suffered any losses.

Meanwhile, rescue workers dug through tons of debris to uncover persons buried under a heavy collapse of German bombs wrecked houses, shops and an air raid precaution post in London during the night.

Bodies of six victims, three of them women, have been recovered so far.

Many other persons were injured by flying glass and falling debris, and doctors and nurses were kept busy giving emergency first aid treatment through the night.

An Air Ministry communique said German air activity during the night was restricted to a brief period shortly after nightfall. It added that a single German plane bombed a London district, causing considerable damage to houses and a number of casualties.

Bombs also were dropped on a town in northeastern Scotland, damaging several buildings and causing some casualties.

Other aircraft bombed various localities in eastern England but caused little damage and no casualties, the Air Ministry said.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—Small German air force units yesterday successfully bombed several airbases in southern and southeastern England, and also attacked the harbors at Margate and Harwich and one aircraft plant in London. German authorities announced today.

In the Mediterranean, it was stated, German bombers attacked and heavily damaged the port of Valetta and an airport at Luca on the island of Malta.

Last night, it was stated, British positions in Africa were bombed by German planes for the second time.

Later German authorities said that German planes had bombed harbor establishments at Glasgow, Aberdeen, Great Yarmouth and Lowestoft.

In North Africa, it was stated, British troops in the Sollum region also were attacked by the German air force.

EUGENE DEWEY IS SUBJECT OF PAPER'S STORY

Eugene (Pete) Dewey, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Dewey, South Court Street, is the subject of an interesting news story published this week in a Columbus newspaper. Young Dewey, a graduate of Circleville High School, is a sophomore at Capital University, Columbus.

Illustrated by three photos, one showing him debating, another as drum major for the band and the third in a boxing pose, the article said:

"Eugene Dewey, 19-year-old Capital University sophomore, packs a wallop—three ways. Spoken a la campus you could call it forensically, musically and pugilistically. While attending Circleville High School, Eugene heeded advice of a lawyer friend who contended that versatility is a great aid in better preparation for a life's work. He already was musically inclined. Having watched Ted Lewis, Circleville graduate who became a famous orchestra leader, became imbued with an urge to be a drum major. He began practicing while still in grade school. Last year, Gene became Capital's drum major. He had led his high school band for four years.

"Perhaps his size led him into the fistic diversion. One hundred and thirty-pound Gene quotes Davey O'Brien, the mighty mite of the Philadelphia Eagles: 'It isn't how big you are but how you use what you've got.' Gene won the district glove tournament in his weight division. He even tackled professional boxing, winning several matches, keeping unblemished his record of never losing a fight. But he is quite toying with the idea of a boxing career. "That the why of his varsity debate efforts; he wants to be a criminal lawyer. He is considered one of Capital's best debaters. But still in the back of his mind are memories of Ted Lewis and a haunting desire to sometime lead a dance band and run a stage show."

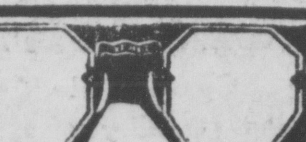

SOIL BUILDING CREDITS AVAILABLE FOR FARMERS

Under the AAA farm program, Pickaway County farmers may earn soil building credits for spreading lime of phosphate on their fields, County Chairman John C. Boggs said Friday. When these credits are converted into payments, the limestone phosphate will practically pay for themselves.

Chairman Boggs asked that farmers determine how much lime of phosphate they need and give their orders to their AAA community committeemen who will begin signing farmers for the 1941 program within the next two weeks. Farmers are using about one fifth of the limestone they should in rebuilding their soil, the chairman said.

Austin said that he would not press an amendment asking Britain to declare her war aims, but he urged her to do it and called on the administration to obtain a binding commitment against surrender of the British fleet and an agreement that America shall help dictate peace terms.

Foes of the measure gave notice that they will battle against any attempt at "gag" rule.

"I expect they will try to cut off debate," said Sen. Johnson (R) Cal. "I am opposed to any time limit on debate—it should be ample."

Sen. Clark (D) Mo., branded administration amendments to the bill to limit presidential powers over expenditures as a "fake." Some foes of the bill declared that it contains a $12,000,000,000 "joker"—that it gives Mr. Roosevelt authority to use that much of anticipated appropriations for American defense this year.

March was expected to place 150,000 men under arms.

Most observers in Manila, however, do not expect more than a continuation of the current war of nerves to develop in the Far East, despite threatening circumstances.

Coming at a time when the Australian war council warned that the war has entered a new phase of "utmost gravity," the order to Dutch shipping was interpreted here as an indication of a critical turn in economic negotiations between a Japanese trade revision and the Netherlands East Indies government at Batavia.

At least two Dutch vessels were known to have complied immediately with the precautionary orders to seek safe haven. All Dutch merchantmen, it was believed, have sealed orders instructing them specifically what to do in the event of an emergency.

The steamer Tjitjalenka was in Manila today and her captain was awaiting further instructions from Batavia. The vessel was 24 miles out of Manila en route to Shanghai when the ship's agency in Batavia relayed orders for her return.

TOKYO, Feb. 14.—While decrying "alarmist talk," a Japanese government spokesman today admitted that the atmosphere in the Far East has become "serious."

The spokesman declared Japan must prepare against every possible contingency, but he added that the government believes "nothing will happen" despite all rumors.

Referring to yesterday's official Australian statement warning that the war has entered a phase of "utmost gravity," the spokesman declared the Tokyo government does not share Australia's anxiety regarding the future.

He said the Japanese government does not consider that Far Eastern hostilities involving Australia are likely to occur.

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 14.—Amid rising tension over possible spread of the European conflict to the Far East, the Australian war cabinet held an emergency meeting today and discussed the latest information received from overseas.

The cables to the government indicated there is no further "deterioration in the situation," authorities revealed. Nevertheless, the government speeded up its preparations for any eventualities that might result from a sudden Japanese drive to the south.

At the end of the war cabinet meeting, Acting Premier A. W. Fadden declared:

"The war cabinet received reports regarding progress of the Australian defense program, which were discussed in the light of the most recent cables about the international situation. "The people of the commonwealth may rest assured that the warnings which have been issued were regarded as necessary, so that everyone might see the need of placing the nation's interest first.

"Australians can and will face any crisis calmly and with deliberate purpose."

STARS SAY—

For Friday, January 14

EVENTS of swift-moving, probably breath-taking tempo may be looked for on this day, judging by the lunar and mutual aspects. This splendid opportunity for crushing out the old and static may be accelerated into fresh fields of achievements, with new environs, contacts, associates and interests. Innovations, adventure, as well as romantic and dramatic experiences may be suddenly and surprisingly presented, but should not be embraced with impetuosity, agitation, commotion and want of serious reflection or consideration. The emotions as well as intellectual faculties call for discretion and deliberation in order to capture the highest pleasure as well as profit.

Those whose birthday it is should be at the threshold of a year of definite progress and opportunity, suddenly springing from nowhere and calling for wise, circumspect and poised consideration, not reckless, impetuous or over-zealous or emotional decisions. Radical change of scene and interests are imminent, with drama, romance and thrills coloring all activities, which may be spectacular or of public acclaim. A new career is in the offing. But keep reasonable and balanced even if swept away.

A child born on this day should be extremely talented, ingenious, inventive and original, probably creative in a unique or strange form. It may have some erratic tendencies, which may be hidden under a cloak of genius.

FUEHRER CALLS CHIEFS OF TWO BALKAN STATES

Reich Leader Seeks Path Through Neutral Areas To Move Soldiers

(Continued from Page One) many, it was pointed out that Boris yesterday hastily returned to Sofia from his country estate and conferred with his cabinet. It was believed that if Boris goes to the Reich, he may be accompanied by both Premier Bogdan Filoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff.

BERLIN, Feb. 14—German officials kept silent today regarding the visit to Germany of Yugoslavian Premier Dragislar Cvetkovitch and Alexander Cincar-Marcovic for a discussion of Balkan problems with Chancellor Hitler.

Authorities stated that details of the conference would not be released "for reasons of safety from enemy air attacks."

It was stated, however, that an official statement probably will be issued later in the day regarding the meeting of foreign statesmen in Germany.

But it was anticipated that the meeting between the fuhrer and the Balkan statesmen would define the exact status of Yugoslavia in forthcoming Balkan events.

(Editor's Note: Reports from the Balkans last night said that the meeting would be held at Berchtesgaden and that Yugoslavian diplomats had been greeted at Salzburg by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who also was scheduled to attend the conference.)

Meanwhile, rescue workers dug through tons of debris to uncover persons buried when a heavy calibre German bomb wrecked houses, shops and an air raid precaution post in London during the night.

Bodies of six victims, three of them women, have been recovered so far.

Many other persons were injured by flying glass and falling debris, and doctors and nurses were kept busy giving emergency first aid treatment through the night.

An Air Ministry communique said German air activity during the night was restricted to a brief period shortly after nightfall. It added that a single German plane bombed a London district, causing considerable damage to houses and a number of casualties.

Bombs also were dropped on a town in northeastern Scotland, damaging several buildings and causing some casualties.

Other aircraft bombed various localities in eastern England but caused little damage and no casualties, the Air Ministry said.

BERLIN, Feb. 14—Small German air force units yesterday successfully bombed several airbases in southern and southeastern England, and also attacked the harbors at Margate and Harwich and an armament plant in London, German authorities announced today.

In the Mediterranean, it was stated, German bombers attacked and heavily damaged the port of Valetta and an airport at Luca on the island of Malta.

Last night, it was stated, British positions in Africa were bombed by German planes for the second time.

Later German authorities said that German planes had bombed harbor establishments at Glasgow, Aberdeen, Great Yarmouth and Lowestoft.

In North Africa, it was stated, British troops in the Sollum region also were attacked by the German air force.

consul there has not advised Americans to depart. Between 500 and 600 Americans are now living in the Straits settlements, and general belief is they will remain there.

TOKYO, Feb. 14—While decrying "alarmist talk," a Japanese government spokesman today admitted that the atmosphere in the Far East has become "serious."

The spokesman declared Japan must prepare against every possible contingency, but he added that the government believes "nothing will happen" despite all rumors.

Referring to yesterday's official Australian statement warning that the war has entered a phase of "utmost gravity," the spokesman declared the Tokyo government does not share Australia's anxiety regarding the future.

He said the Japanese government does not consider that Far Eastern hostilities involving Australia are likely to occur.

MT. UNION TOPS KENT STATE IN CRUCIAL JOUST

By International News Service Answering the challenge of the fast-moving Wooster Scots, the Mt. Union purple raiders today celebrated their 12th consecutive win of the basketball campaign after erasing Kent State, 54-32.

It was the Mount's sixth conference victory and the standing of the first four clubs reads as follows:

Mt. Union	6 0
Toledo	2 0
Wooster	6 1
Ohio Northern	8 2

Paced by the sharp-eyed Stanley Baughman, sure-shot all-conference center, the Purple Raiders roared into a 24-13 halftime advantage after being stymied in the early stages of the tilt by the fighting Flashes. It was Mt. Union's second win over the Kent Staters. The Raiders won the first tilt, 58-39.

Rudy Schlott and Chuck Joachim followed Baughman in the scoring with 13 apiece while Conner's eight were high for Kent.

Scoring 11 points in the closing three minutes, Wilmington gave Ashland a bad scare but didn't have the punch to carry on to victory. The Eagles won by a score of 47-26.

Sprague and Richcreek tallied 19 and 13, respectively, for the winning Ashland club while Scott tallied 14 to pace the Wilmington quintet.

In the only other game played in Ohio last night, Findlay downed Bluffton, 54-32. It was Findlay's fifth win in 12 games and Bluffton's sixth loss against a like number of wins.

EVENTS of swift-moving, probably breath-taking tempo may be looked for on this day, judging by the lunar and mutual aspects. This splendid opportunity for crushing out the old and static may be accelerated into fresh fields of achievements, with new environs, contacts, associates and interests. Innovations, adventure, as well as romantic and dramatic experiences may be suddenly and surprisingly presented, but should not be embraced with impetuosity, agitation, commotion and want of serious reflection or consideration. The emotions as well as intellectual faculties call for discretion and deliberation in order to capture the highest pleasure as well as profit.

Those whose birthday it is should be at the threshold of a year of definite progress and opportunity, suddenly springing from nowhere and calling for wise, circumspect and poised consideration. Not reckless,

OPEN LETTERS

TO POLICE DEPARTMENT

OFFICERS: Circleville and Pickaway County folk, generally, are pleased that you are undertaking a traffic checkup to break up too long doubleparking, especially on West Main Street. Since the advent of parallel parking on this main thoroughfare you have been extremely liberal, permitting doubleparking where persons required a few minutes in which to do their shopping. But there are always persons who take advantage of their benefactors in any way possible. Not only should parking notices be issued to violators of your ordinance, but motorists who insist on continuously failing to abide by the law should be forced to pay fines, with the usual publicity being attached to their cases. There is plenty of room for doubleparking on Main Street, and there is no reason why it should not be permitted, but the person who insists on overstaying his welcome should be penalized in a material way.

CIRCUITEER.

TO EVERYONE

FRIENDS: The Circleville Chamber of Commerce's second annual Corn and Soybean Show is in full swing, and it is a honey. Persons who thought last year's event was an exceptional one were surprised today when they saw the large number of entries and the splendid business house exhibits in place in Memorial Hall. A banquet this evening, during which premium awards will be listed, climaxes the undertaking. There is still plenty of time for you to visit the displays, because they will not be removed until late Saturday afternoon. It will be well worth your time to make a trip to Memorial Hall to help swell the crowd that has been enjoying the Exhibit.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION

SOCIETY: I read with interest the report you submitted this week concerning 1940 activities, and was much surprised to note the scope of your organization's work. One paragraph which struck me more than any other was the statement of your social worker that regardless of how much governmental relief there may be there is still plenty of work to be done in a year's time by your Society. Truly, there is always a place for the Benevolent Association in Circleville's scheme of things. It has been a good many years since the Benevolent Association came into existence, and each year the work has brought succor to many persons all of whom are truly deserving of assistance. Plaundits must go to all persons who contribute to the Benevolent Association, and to all who perform given duties under its plan for operation.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN

WORKERS: Very few persons realized until the other day just how much good your organization is doing in the interest of persons on the British Isles who are forced to face the ordeal of war day after day and night after night. I could hardly believe my eyes when I read the list of goods sent to New York by your group, all of which is to be sent across the seas to help make some Britons more comfortable in their fight to continue their existence. I hope that the work your group is doing will inspire more and more support for your undertaking, and that more boxes filled with clothing can be dispatched at early dates for the Island Empire.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SPRING FEVER SUFFERERS

FRIENDS: Temperatures which reached the high fifties Wednesday and Thursday may have presented to some of you the illusion that Spring is here. Anyway, some of you proceeded to remove your winter garments and run about out-of-doors as though it were summer. Everyone has been glad to see the mild weather, but with influenza, measles and mumps still prevalent in the community, such action only exposes you, lowers your resistance and makes your chances of contracting at least one of them all the greater. Spring is by no means here, so don't put away your overcoat and overshoes for a while yet.

CIRCUITEER.

TO PROPERTY OWNERS

FOLK: Since the first of the year more than half a dozen property owners in the city have reported prowlers around their homes, and several have informed police that numerous articles were taken. No doubt there have been other attempted break-ins about which the police have not heard. Although no very valuable articles have been taken anywhere, either from homes or from business houses, the condition presents a menace to all of you and should prompt you to see that your doors and windows are locked at night and that any valuable articles which you might have around are put in a safe place. Probably the only reason most of the cases have been petty is because no valuable articles were left where the intruder could readily lay his hand on them. You may cooperate with the local authorities by reporting any attempted break-ins.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

JAMES W. GERARD, who asserts that a Germany victorious in Europe immediately would "seize Mexico" and "hold South America in an iron grip," without doubt is pretty well qualified to testify as to what the Nazis would like to do. He was our Berlin ambassador at the time we entered the last World War, had resided in the Germans' midst for quite a while before that, and probably understands their psychology and ambitions very well indeed.

There's no evidence, however, that he's any particular authority relative to the Latin Americans. In fact, I imagine that I myself know 'em better than he does. I spent several years among them, have a daughter and a couple of grandchildren who were born in the Argentine Republic, worked there as a newspaperman, made reportorial trips to Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay, Brazil and Venezuela, and ought to be fairly well acquainted with 'em.

Now, I don't altogether see how, without their own acquiescence, Germany's going to seize any of them or hold them in an iron grip. At least I don't see how it can be done immediately. And, if any experience entitles me to an opinion, those boys aren't due to be mildly acquiescent.

I don't question that the Germans have done plenty of propaganda work all over the Latin Americas, that there are fifth columnists on the job or that numerous Trojan horses are loose.

SAME OLD STORY

But, good gosh! Does anybody suppose that the same sort of activity wasn't rampant during the last war? Believe me, it was. I ran into it head on, for I was in the business of propagandizing in the same field for the United States, in our Public Information Committee's service.

The German campaign "took" in spots. There are German colonies scattered about the southern republics. There's a very large one in southern Brazil. It's as German as Germany. Early in this present war, not to mention the last one, these German-Brazilians attempted a Nazi uprising, but President Vargas suppressed it with oodles of German fatalities.

It was the same way during the World War. The local Germans fell for the Kaiser's attempted fixing, but the Latin populations generally didn't. Indeed, they resisted it. I saw two anti-German riots in Buenos Aires. German shops were sacked, the German club was looted and the city's German-owned newspaper, La Union, was set afire. The police looked on indifferently, the Latin authorities not caring a hoot. Finally, the Communists undertook a regular revolution. The Argentine army killed 800 of 'em in three days.

All this didn't look to me as if that country proposed to be Ger-manly dominated. I don't believe it does now. It might be conquered, but not in short order, as James W. Gerard suggests.

LATIN DICTATORS

I admit that some of the Latin-American countries have dictators of their own, but their dictators prefer to do their own dictating, not to be dictated to by Herr Hitler, Signor Mussolini or Comrade Stalin. They object to dictation from Washington, too. Washington's done a bit of it heretofore, but not the New Deal administration.

A victorious Germany could lick Latin America, of course, if Latin America actually adjoined Germany, like the Low Countries or Denmark, but across the Atlantic and with the Latins helped by the United States, it would be no snap—no mere matter of an immediate seizure or the immediate clamping down of an iron grip.

What's known as "economic penetration" is a different thing. The United States isn't much of a market for Latin America's products. Our production's mainly the same as theirs. Europe's their essential customer. And if Herr Hitler gains control of practically all of it, he'll be in a position to talk economic turkey to 'em, as the buyer always is, to talk turkey, to the salesman with goods it's urgently necessary for the latter to get off his shelves. That's an item for Uncle Sam to think about.

DIET AND HEALTH

Interesting Facts About Essential Vitamin C

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Nature produces Vitamin C in abundance and it is well she does, because we could not exist in a healthy condition very long without it. It is found in nearly all fruits and vegetables, as well as milk, eggs, and meat. When it is not in the food scurvy develops.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

We seldom see scurvy nowadays, but it used to be a regular thing to see it on long sea voyages where fresh fruit and vegetables were not available.

Milk is not likely to contain large quantities of Vitamin C and for that reason orange juice or tomato juice is added to the baby's diet when it is in the milk stage to prevent infantile scurvy. In infants, scurvy manifests itself by bleeding from the gums, and painful swollen joints. I have seen many infants treated for acute rheumatism and have seen effected a marvelous cure by the simple expedient of giving them orange juice.

"Bachelor" Scurvy
Rarely nowadays, we see a form of scurvy in adult men. It is called "bachelor scurvy." It occurs in eccentric people who live very much alone and don't take the trouble to cook their meals so they live mostly on crackers and cheese and coffee and canned and processed foods. Natural foods contain Vitamin C but processed foods are deficient in it.

Vitamin P is something like Vitamin C in action. It is found in fruits, especially lemons, and citrus fruits. It has been found that a small amount of Vitamin P in a diet supplements the action of Vitamin C, and if deficient in the diet hemorrhages are likely to occur. It exerts its action on the small blood vessel wall.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

BILL LATHAM, young novelist, has been jilted only seconds before he was to have gone to the altar. For the first time.

JOEL RANDALL, his older cousin, sees Bill's usual suavity and urbanity broken.

YESTERDAY: Sadie Young, ubiquitous society reporter, determinedly seeks an interview with Bill.

CHAPTER SEVEN

"WHAT DID you say, Mr. Latham?" asked the far-off thin voice of Sadie, the society reporter.

"Nothing," said Bill. "Now—beat it!"

Joel came in, wearing a dressing gown and carrying a suitcase. "What's going on?" he asked.

Bill turned away from the speaking tube. "I was telling that Sadie person where to head in," he said.

"Really?" said Joel. "Well, no matter what you tell her to do, she's got a story. Doubtless Doctor MacQueen's little announcement left very little to the imagination."

"So he's the one who told the guests," said Bill.

"Yes," said Aunt Sallie. "Somebody had to do it, and Doctor MacQueen is accustomed to speaking in public."

Bill eyed the suitcase Joel had now placed upon the table whose mother might have been a square piano and whose father may have been a bathrobe.

"What's the idea of the suitcase?" he asked.

"Last minute packing," said Joel. "I didn't intend to leave until tomorrow, but I'm going to start out tonight."

"For the wilds?" said Aunt Sallie wildly.

"For the mountains of western North Carolina," said Joel. "My Eveless Eden. After the fiasco of this evening, I'm darned if I want to see or hear a woman for two weeks."

Aunt Sallie began to dab at her eyes with a handkerchief.

"Oh, dear," she said, "I'm all mixed up. So many things have happened, I—I—" She stopped short. "Good heavens!" she cried.

"The reception?"

"Gosh!" said Bill, that's right! I forgot!"

Joel shrugged and went on packing. "Call up old lady Linwood, and tell her to send the ice cream and what-not to the hospital and the orphanage," he said. "Unless you two want to get your share first."

"Nonsense!" said Aunt Sallie. "The very thought of eating Linwood food nauseates me."

"It chokes me," said Bill. "And we should bother ourselves about Grandma Linwood's reception. After all, it was her side of the family that messed everything up."

"Of course," said Aunt Sallie. "Come on into the bathroom, honey, and let me fix up that nose of yours."

Bill laughed. "I wonder if Rita and Don can find some nice steaks any place," he said.

"What ever for?" asked Sallie.

"For their black eyes," said Bill. While Aunt Sallie and Bill were in the bathroom giving first-aid treatment to Bill's nose, the telephone bell rang.

"Don't answer it!" Bill yelled.

"Okay!" said Joel.

The telephone kept on ringing. Then it stopped. But not for long. It started again.

"Don't answer it!" Bill repeated.

"I am going to answer it," Joel said. "Darned if I'm going to put up with that confounded ringing. A little publicity is better than having your nerves wrecked." He yanked off the receiver. "Hello!" he said shortly.

"Well, if it's for me," Bill said, coming into the room with a strip of sticking plaster across his nose. "I'm not in. I've gone to China, Kalamazoo, any place."

"Shut up!" said Joel. "No, not you," he added into the transmitter.

"I was speaking to my—to someone else. No, sorry. Nothing to say. Sorry . . . sorry."

"Stop being so sorry," said Bill, "and hang up."

"Goodbye," said Joel at the telephone. "No, no need calling again. He won't be answering. Yes, that's right. He won't be answering." The receiver clicked back onto its hook, and Joel faced Bill. "Will I never get through explaining things for you? I'm pretty darned sick of it, to be frank."

"Now, now, Joel," said Aunt Sallie as she came in. "Will one of you boys untangle these heads from the lace?"

"I'll do it," said Joel. And as he worked, he mumbled: "What you need is a Houdini. Why in heck do you wear all this junk, Aunt Sallie? There must be a little Hottentot in you—deeking yourself out in colored beads and things."

"Never mind the Hottentots," said Bill. "We've got to do something. We're in a jam, and—"

"What do you mean 'we'?" Joel cut in.

"All right, I'm in a jam," Bill corrected. "But the least you two can do is offer some suggestions. Gosh, I've been jilted—JILTED; Grandma Linwood's reception. After all, it was her side of the family that messed everything up."

OPEN LETTERS

TO POLICE DEPARTMENT

OFFICERS: Circleville and Pickaway County folk, generally, are pleased that you are undertaking a traffic cleanup to break up too long doubleparking, especially on West Main Street. Since the advent of parallel parking on this main thoroughfare you have been extremely liberal, permitting doubleparking where persons required a few minutes in which to do their shopping. But there are always persons who take advantage of their benefactors in any way possible. Not only should parking notices be issued to violators of your ordinance, but motorists who insist on continuously failing to abide by the law should be forced to pay fines, with the usual publicity being attached to their cases. There is plenty of room for doubleparking on Main Street, and there is no reason why it should not be permitted, but the person who insists on overstaying his welcome should be penalized in a material way.

CIRCUITEER.

TO EVERYONE

FRIENDS: The Circleville Chamber of Commerce's second annual Corn and Soybean Show is in full swing, and it is a honey. Persons who thought last year's event was an exceptional one were surprised today when they saw the large number of entries and the splendid business house exhibits in place in Memorial Hall. A banquet this evening, during which premium awards will be listed, climaxes the undertaking. There is still plenty of time for you to visit the displays, because they will not be removed until late Saturday afternoon. It will be well worth your time to make a trip to Memorial Hall to help swell the crowd that has been enjoying the Exhibit.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION

SOCIETY: I read with interest the report you submitted this week concerning 1940 activities, and was much surprised to note the scope of your organization's work. One paragraph which struck me more than any other was the statement of your social worker that regardless of how much governmental relief there may be there is still plenty of work to be done in a year's time by your Society. Truly, there is always a place for the Benevolent Association in Circleville's scheme of things. It has been a good many years since the Benevolent Association came into existence, and each year the work has brought succor to many persons all of whom are truly deserving of assistance. Pledits must go to all persons who contribute to the Benevolent Association, and to all who perform given duties under its plan for operation.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN

WORKERS: Very few persons realized until the other day just how much good your organization is doing in the interest of persons on the British Isles who are forced to face the ordeal of war day after day and night after night. I could hardly believe my eyes when I read the list of goods sent to New York by your group, all of which is to be sent across the seas to help make some Britons more comfortable in their fight to continue their existence. I hope that the work your group is doing will inspire more and more support for your undertaking, and that more boxes filled with clothing can be dispatched at early dates for the Island Empire.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SPRING FEVER SUFFERERS

FRIENDS: Temperatures which reached the high fifties Wednesday and Thursday may have presented to some of you the illusion that Spring is here. Anyway, some of you proceeded to remove your winter garments and run about out-of-doors as though it were summer. Everyone has been glad to see the mild weather, but with influenza, measles and mumps still prevalent in the community, such action only exposes you, lowers your resistance and makes your chances of contracting at least one of them all the greater. Spring is by no means here, so don't put away your overcoat and overshoes for a while yet.

CIRCUITEER.

TO PROPERTY OWNERS

FOLK: Since the first of the year more than half a dozen property owners in the city have reported prowlers around their homes, and several have informed police that numerous articles were taken. No doubt there have been other attempted break-ins about which the police have not heard. Although no very valuable articles have been taken anywhere, either from homes or from business houses, the condition presents a menace to all of you and should prompt you to see that your doors and windows are locked at night and that any valuable articles which you might have around are put in a safe place. Probably the only reason most of the cases have been petty is because no valuable articles were left where the intruder could readily lay his hand on them. You may cooperate with the local authorities by reporting any attempted break-ins.

CIRCUITEER.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

JAMES W. GERARD, who asserts that a Germany victorious in Europe immediately would "seize Mexico" and "hold South America in an iron grip" without doubt is pretty well qualified to testify as to what the Nazis would like to do. He was our Berlin ambassador at the time we entered the last World War, had resided in the Germans' midst for quite a while before that, and probably understands their psychology and ambitions very well indeed.

There's no evidence, however, that he's any particular authority relative to the Latin Americans. In fact, I imagine that I myself know him better than he does. I spent several years among them, have a daughter and a couple of grandchildren who were born in the Argentine Republic, worked there as a newspaperman, made reportorial trips to Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay, Brazil and Venezuela, and ought to be fairly well acquainted with 'em.

Now, I don't altogether see how, without their own acquiescence, Germany's going to seize any of them or hold them in an iron grip. At least I don't see how it can be done immediately. And, if any experience entitles me to an opinion, those boys aren't due to be mildly acquiescent.

I don't question that the Germans have done plenty of propaganda work all over the Latin Americas, that there are fifth col-unnists on the job or that numerous Trojan horses are loose.

SAME OLD STORY

But, good gosh! Does anybody suppose that the same sort of activity wasn't rampant during the last war? Believe me, it was. I ran into it head on, for I was in the business of propagandizing in the same field for the United States, in our Public Information Committee's service.

The German campaign "took" in spots. There are German colonies scattered about the southern republics. There's a very large one in southern Brazil. It's as German as Germany. Early in this present war, not to mention the last one, these German-Brazilians attempted a Nazi uprising, but President Vargas suppressed it with oodles of German fatalities.

It was the same way during the World War. The local Germans fell for the Kaiser's attempted fixing, but the Latin populations generally didn't. Indeed, they resisted it. I saw two anti-German riots in Buenos Aires. German shops were sacked, the German club was looted and the city's German-owned newspaper, La Union, was set afire. The police looked on indifferently. The Latin authorities not caring a hoot. Finally, the Communists undertook a regular revolution. The Argentine army killed 800 of 'em in three days.

All this didn't look to me as if that country proposed to be Ger-

manly dominated. I don't believe it does now. It might be conquered, but not in short order, as James W. Gerard suggests.

LATIN DICTATORS

I admit that some of the Latin-American countries have dictators of their own, but their dictators prefer to do their own dictating, not to be dictated to by Herr Hitler, Signor Mussolini or Comrade Stalin. They object to dictation from Washington, too. Washington's done a bit of it heretofore, but not the New Deal administration.

A victorious Germany could lick Latin America, of course, if Latin America actually adjoined Germany, like the Low Countries or Denmark, but across the Atlantic and with the Latins helped by the United States, it would be no snap—no mere matter of an immediate seizure or the immediate clamping down of an iron grip.

What's known as "economic penetration" is a different thing. The United States isn't much of a market for Latin America's products. Our production's mainly the same as theirs. Europe's their essential customer. And if Herr Hitler gains control of practically all of it, he'll be in a position to talk economic turkey to 'em, as the buyer always is, to talk turkey, to the salesman with goods it's urgently necessary for the latter to get off his shelves.

That's an item for Uncle Sam to think about.

"Bang it up and put dents and scratches all over, will you? We're supposed to spend the day out practicing!"

DIET AND HEALTH

Interesting Facts About Essential Vitamin C

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Nature produces Vitamin C in abundance and it is well she does, because we could not exist in a healthy condition very long without it. It is found in nearly all fruits and vegetables, as well as milk, eggs, and meat. When it is not in the food scurvy develops.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

We seldom see scurvy nowadays, but it used to be a regular thing to see it on long sea voyages where fresh fruit and vegetables were not available.

Milk is not likely to contain large quantities of Vitamin C and that for reason orange juice or tomato juice is added to the baby's diet when it is in the milk stage to prevent infantile scurvy. In infants, scurvy manifests itself by bleeding from the gums, and painful swollen joints. I have seen many infants treated for acute rheumatism and have seen effected a marvelous cure by the simple expedient of giving them orange juice.

"Bachelor" Scurvy
Rarely nowadays, we see a form of scurvy in adults. I described it the other day. It is called "bachelor scurvy." It occurs in eccentric people who live very much alone and don't take the trouble to cook their meals so they live mostly on crackers and cheese and coffee and canned and processed foods. Natural foods contain Vitamin C but processed foods are deficient in it.

Vitamin P is something like Vitamin C in action. It is found in fruits, especially lemons, and curiously enough Hungarian red pepper contains a good quantity of it. It supplements the action of Vitamin C, and if deficient in the diet hemorrhages are likely to occur. It exerts its action on the small blood vessel wall.

Vitamin D is added to the infant's diet to prevent rickets. Rickets is a disease of the bones in which calcium and phosphorus are not utilized. Bones, of course, are made from calcium and phosphorus. Vitamin D seems to have the property of allowing the bones to absorb calcium and phosphorus from the blood and build them up into bone structure.

Cod Liver Oil

In rickets this process is deficient and, therefore, the bones are soft so that we have frequent cases of knock-knees and bowlegs and other bone deformities. The vitamin is, therefore, given to growing children regularly, usually in the form of cod liver oil.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Reader—"Does removal of hair by electrolysis from a mole cause cancer?"

Answer—No, but better remove the entire mole.

B. B.—"What might be the cause of slow pulse and what effect would it have on other parts of the body? This condition exists in a young person who is anxious to know."

Answer—It has generally been considered that a slow pulse is evidence of longevity. This applies to pulses which go as low as 60 or 60. Below that range it may indicate a condition of the heart muscle which might result from some infectious disease, such as rheumatism, diphtheria or influenza. In general, however, if the only symptom manifested is slow pulse, I think there is little to worry about.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has sent pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in cash and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SYNOPSIS
BILL LATHAM, young novelist, has been jilted only seconds before he was to be married to the altar. For the first time, JOEL RANDALL, his older cousin, sees Bill's usual suavity and urbanity broken.

CHAPTER SEVEN
"WHAT DID you say, Mr. Latham?" asked the far-off thinny voice of Sadie, the society reporter.

"Nothing," said Bill. "Now—beat it!"
Joel came in, wearing a dressing gown and carrying a suitcase. "What's going on?" he asked.

Bill turned away from the speaking tube. "I was telling that Sadie person where to head in," he said.

"Really?" said Joel. "Well, no matter what you tell her to do, she's got a story. Doubtless Doctor MacQueen's little announcement left very little to the imagination."

"So he's the one who told the guests," said Bill.

"Yes," said Aunt Sallie. "Somebody had to do it, and Doctor MacQueen is accustomed to speaking in public."

Bill eyed the suitcase Joel had now placed upon the table whose mother might have been a square piano and whose father may have been a bathrobe.

"What's the idea of the suitcase?" he asked.

"Last minute packing," said Joel. "I didn't intend to leave until tomorrow, but I'm going to start out tonight."

"For the wilds?" said Aunt Sallie wildly.

"For the mountains of western North Carolina," said Joel. "My Neveless Eden. After the fiasco of this evening, I'm darned if I want to see or hear a woman for two weeks."

Aunt Sallie began to dab at her eyes with a handkerchief.

"Oh, dear," she said, "I'm all mixed up. So many things have happened, I—I—" She stopped short. "Good heavens!" she cried.

"The reception?"

Joel shrugged and went on packing. "Call up old lady Linwood, and tell her to send the ice cream and what-not to the hospital and the orphanage," he said. "Unless you two want to get your share first."

"Nonsense!" said Aunt Sallie. "The very thought of eating Linwood food nauseates me."

"It chokes me," said Bill. "And we should both ourselves about Grandma Linwood's reception. After all, it was her side of the family that messed everything up."

"Of course," said Aunt Sallie. "Come on into the bathroom, honey, and let me fix up that nose of yours."

Bill laughed. "I wonder if Rita and Don can find some nice steaks any place," he said.

"What ever for?" asked Sallie. "For their black eyes?" said Bill. While Aunt Sallie and Bill were in the bathroom giving first-aid treatment to Bill's nose, the telephone bell rang.

"Don't answer it!" Bill yelled. "Okay!" said Joel. The telephone kept on ringing. Then it stopped. But not for long. It started again.

"Don't answer it!" Bill repeated. "I am going to answer it," Joel said. "Darned if I'm going to put up with that confounded ringing. A little publicity is better than having your nerves wrecked." He yanked off the receiver. "Hello!" he said shortly.

"Well, if it's for me," Bill said, coming into the room with a strip of sticking plaster across his nose, "I'm not in. I've gone to China, Kalamazoo, any place."

"Shut up!" said Joel. "No, not you," he added into the transmitter. "I was speaking to my—to someone else. No, sorry. Nothing to say. Sorry . . . sorry."

"Stop being so sorry," said Bill, "and hang up."

"Goodbye," said Joel at the telephone. "No, no need calling again. He won't be answering. Yes, that's right. He won't be answering." The

"That was one of the bridesmaids calling," said Bill.

receiver clicked back onto its hook, and Joel faced Bill. "Will I never get through explaining things for you? I'm pretty darned sick of it, to be frank."

"Now, now, Joel," said Aunt Sallie as she came in. "Will one of you boys untangle these beads from the lace?"

"I'll do it," said Joel. And as he worked, he mumbled: "What you need is a Houdini. Why in heck do you wear all this junk, Aunt Sallie? There must be a little Hottentot in you—deeking yourself out in colored beads and things."

"Never mind the Hottentots," said Bill. "We've got to do something. We're in a jam, and—"

"What do you mean 'we'?" Joel cut in.

"All right, I'm in a jam," Bill corrected. "But the least you two can do is offer some suggestions. Gosh, I've been jilted—JILTED; you realize that?"

"I do," said Aunt Sallie. "And by now half the town realizes it. I'm pretty sure, too, Bill, if you want to know how I really feel."

"Well, how do you think I feel?" said Bill.

"We wouldn't know," said Joel. "Getting jilted is not in our line, is it, Aunt Sallie?"

"That's not being helpful, Joel," said Aunt Sallie reproachfully. "Who said I wanted to be helpful?" Joel retorted. He went back to his packing. "If I get away by eight," he went on, as though talking to himself, "and drive all night, I ought to be in the mountains by noon."

Bill began walking the floor. "Do keep still!" said Aunt Sallie. "You wanted a suggestion; Well, I've got one."

"What is it?" Bill asked.

"Just act as though nothing had happened," said Aunt Sallie. "Chin up, and—"

"Better leave his chin out of it," said Joel. "See what happened when he stuck it out too far a while back?"

"Shut up, Joel," said Bill. "Go on, Aunt Sallie. I'm listening. What were you going to say?"

"Just go on acting," said Aunt Sallie, "as though nothing had happened. I mean, settle down here and write. You told me you had an idea for a charming love story. All right, write it! Don't let the town think for one moment—and especially that Linwood woman—that being jilted, being still a bachelor matters in the least."

"Splendid advice," said Joel.

225 Attend Hilarious Lutheran Social Affair

Women In Charge Of Program At Brotherhood

Two hundred and twenty-five strong, wives, sweethearts and members of the Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran Church turned out Thursday for the annual Sweetheart Banquet in the parish house, a social affair outstanding in the history of the organization.

Goated for the last 15 years by the demands of the Brotherhood that they 'put on a party', the ladies of the church arranged an affair such as the men in their wildest moments could not have conceived.

Veiled in secrecy, the details were worked out to perfection from the banquet served so bountifully at 6:30 p. m. until the presentation of the Valentine surprise which closed the rapidly moving program hour.

Never before was this group of men let in for such an evening of good natured ribbing and sly digs. Even Prof. Homer Cotterman of Capital University who, as guest speaker, came prepared for a formal talk, even he laid aside his lecture and told story after story, bringing shouts of laughter from a group almost hilarious from the various stunts. These were presented under the direction of Mrs. Larry Athey who gained through the affair an enviable reputation as a master of ceremonies.

Seated at long tables arranged in parallel rows down the length of the dining room, the entire group was efficiently served at one time by a corps of young people, sons and daughters of Brotherhood members.

The tables, covered in white, were decorated in a combined patriotic and Valentine theme. Each was centered with red, white and blue candles in vine-wrapped white oblong holders. Red tapered crystal sticks were used down the length of each vine strewn table where covers were marked with red, white and blue napkins and appropriate favors holding tiny American flags.

Just before the guests were seated, a prayer blessing was sung.

When Mrs. Athey took over after the banquet, her first remark was a gibe at the men for having doubted the quality and quantity of the dinner. Presenting Mrs. Elmer Wolf, Mrs. Athey gave to her the duty of welcoming the Brotherhood.

Caustic in her comments concerning the constant nagging of the men over such a long period, Mrs. Wolf made it apparent that it was not a sense of duty or obligation that led the ladies to arrange the affair, but rather it was planned to show the men their proper places in back seats when it came to a question of real entertainment.

To Carl Leist fell the duty of responding for the men. Highly humorous were his remarks of appreciation, which he concluded with a clever original poem.

Group singing of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", led by Mrs. George Himrod, preceded the reading of "The Bulletin", this rare issue having been edited by Mrs. Milton Kellstadt, under the management of the ladies. All the usual departments of this Brotherhood publication and a few new special features were read by Mrs. Kellstadt to the delight of the ladies and embarrassment of some of the men.

Mrs. Carl Leist took her turn with the Truth Quiz, Larry Athey, Charles Walters and Dudley Carpenter having to pay the "consequences" for failure to tell the truth. And they really paid.

Quite an innovation was the next number presented by Mrs. Mary Beck, who, as curtains were drawn, was revealed as the proprietor of the flourishing "Brotherhood Beauty Shop." Mrs. George Griffith served as her assistant and turned out Gladden Troutman with a wild set of red finger nails after a few moments of her attention.

After judicious inquiries by their wives, Harry Bartholomew, George Himrod and D. L. Tracy were taken to the shop where Mr. Bartholomew was given a demonstration treatment, guaranteed to grow hair. "Red" is a shade too pale to be mentioned in connection with those men's faces.

Mrs. Athey's supreme insult in her series of satirically humorous remarks came with her introduction tion of the guest speaker, when she said that all previous numbers had been "little balloons going up to make room for the big bag of wind, Prof. Cotterman."

Prof. Cotterman's really splendid talk, at first a series of side-splitting stories, was concluded with a stirring resume of the life of Abraham Lincoln, and a dissertation on 'most of the people', telling little known facts brought out in a recent quiz among students at the university.

Just to prove their versatility the kitchen force and the dining room corps sang an original song for the pleasure of the Brotherhood.

Mrs. Athey presented the last number of the program to satisfy the unvoiced longing of the men for a Valentine. After the lights were dimmed, a large Valentine's box appropriately decorated in red hearts was seen in the spot light. When the lid burst open, Mrs. Dudley Carpenter was revealed, arrayed as everyone dreams of a Valentine, her lovely solo, "Goodnight Sweetheart", making a fitting finale for the evening of rare entertainment.

Members of the program committee were Mrs. Athey, Mrs. Leist, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. George Troutman, Mrs. Kellstadt and Mrs. Karl Hermann; the kitchen committee, Mrs. Edward Sensenbrenner and Mrs. Mason Klingensmith, co-chairmen, Mrs. Frank Palm, Mrs. Lewis Carter, Mrs. Erma Gehres, Mrs. Earl Hoffman, Mrs. John Wardell, Mrs. Schindler, Mrs. John Goeller, Mrs. Emerson Martin, Mrs. Clarence Helvering; dining room, Mrs. John Walters, Mrs. Harry Kern, Mrs. John Kellstadt, Mrs. H. 225 Attend Hilarious Lutheran Social Affair

Women In Charge Of Program At Brotherhood

Two hundred and twenty-five strong, wives, sweethearts and members of the Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran Church turned out Thursday for the annual Sweetheart Banquet in the parish house, a social affair outstanding in the history of the organization.

Goated for the last 15 years by the demands of the Brotherhood that they 'put on a party', the ladies of the church arranged an affair such as the men in their wildest moments could not have conceived.

Veiled in secrecy, the details were worked out to perfection from the banquet served so bountifully at 6:30 p. m. until the presentation of the Valentine surprise which closed the rapidly moving program hour.

Never before was this group of men let in for such an evening of good natured ribbing and sly digs. Even Prof. Homer Cotterman of Capital University who, as guest speaker, came prepared for a formal talk, even he laid aside his lecture and told story after story, bringing shouts of laughter from a group almost hilarious from the various stunts. These were presented under the direction of Mrs. Larry Athey who gained through the affair an enviable reputation as a master of ceremonies.

Seated at long tables arranged in parallel rows down the length of the dining room, the entire group was efficiently served at one time by a corps of young people, sons and daughters of Brotherhood members.

The tables, covered in white, were decorated in a combined patriotic and Valentine theme. Each was centered with red, white and blue candles in vine-wreathed white oblong holders. Red tapers in crystal sticks were used down the length of each vine strewn table where covers were marked with red, white and blue napkins and appropriate favors holding tiny American flags.

Just before the guests were seated, a prayer blessing was sung.

When Mrs. Athey took over after the banquet, her first remark was a gibe at the men for having doubted the quality and quantity of the dinner. Presenting Mrs. Elmer Wolf, Mrs. Athey gave to her the duty of welcoming the Brotherhood.

Caustic in her comments concerning the constant nagging of the men over such a long period, Mrs. Wolf made it apparent that it was not a sense of duty or obligation that led the ladies to arrange the affair, but rather it was planned to show the men their proper places in back seats when it came to a question of real entertainment.

To Carl Leist fell the duty of responding for the men. Highly humorous were his remarks of appreciation, which he concluded with a clever original poem.

Group singing of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", led by Mrs. George Himrod, preceded the reading of "The Bulletin", this rare issue having been edited by Mrs. Milton Kellstadt, under the management of the ladies. All the usual departments of this Brotherhood publication and a few new special features were read by Mrs. Kellstadt to the delight of the ladies and embarrassment of some of the men.

Mrs. Carl Leist took her turn with the Truth Quiz, Larry Athey, Charles Walters and Dudley Carpenter having to pay the "consequences" for failure to tell the truth. And they really paid.

Quite an innovation was the next number presented by Mrs. Mary Beck, who, as curtains were drawn, was revealed as the proprietor of the flourishing "Brotherhood Beauty Shop." Mrs. George Griffith served as her assistant and turned out Gladden Troutman with a wild set of red fingernails after a few moments of her attention.

After judicious inquiries by their wives, Harry Bartholomew, George Himrod and D. L. Tracy were taken to the shop where Mr. Bartholomew was given a demonstration treatment, guaranteed to grow hair. "Red" is a shade too pale to be mentioned in connection with those men's faces.

Mrs. Athey's supreme insult in her series of satirically humorous remarks came with her introduction of the guest speaker, when she said that all previous numbers had been "little balloons going up to make room for the big bag of wind, Prof. Cotterman."

Prof. Cotterman's really splendid talk, at first a series of side-splitting stories, was concluded with a stirring resume of the life of Abraham Lincoln, and a dissertation on 'most of the people', telling little known facts brought out in a recent quiz among students at the university.

Just to prove their versatility the kitchen force and the dining room corps sang an original song for the pleasure of the Brotherhood.

Mrs. Athey presented the last number of the program to satisfy the unvoiced longing of the men for a Valentine. After the lights were dimmed, a large Valentine's box appropriately decorated in red hearts was seen in the spot light. When the lid burst open, Mrs. Dudley Carpenter was revealed, arrayed as everyone dreams of a Valentine, her lovely solo, "Goodnight Sweetheart", making a fitting finale for the evening of rare entertainment.

Members of the program committee were Mrs. Athey, Mrs. Leist, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. George Troutman, Mrs. Kellstadt and Mrs. Karl Herrmann; the kitchen committee, Mrs. Edward Sensenbrenner and Mrs. Mason Klingensmith; co-chairmen, Mrs. Frank Palm, Mrs. Lewis Carter, Mrs. Erma Gehres, Mrs. Earl Hoffman, Mrs. John Wardell, Mrs. Schindler, Mrs. John Goeller, Mrs. Emerson Martin, Mrs. Clarence Helvering; dining room, Mrs. John Walters, Mrs. Harry Kern, Mrs. John Kellstadt, Mrs. H. M. Crites, Mrs. Luther List; ticket committee, Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs. Himrod, Mrs. Klingensmith, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Athey, Mrs. Charles Eitel, Mrs. George Troutman, Mrs. Leist, Mrs. Palm, Mrs. Helvering and Mrs. Walters. Mrs. Herrmann served as pianist for the various numbers.

Ashville Garden Club

Mrs. Richard Jones of Saltcreek Township was guest speaker Thursday at the meeting of the Ashville Garden Club held at the home of Mrs. Walter Hedges of that community. Forty members and guests were present for Mrs. Jones' talk on "Gardens of the Southeast".

Mrs. Jones told of the Magnolia, Belle Isle and Cypress Gardens of Charleston, S. C. and mentioned others visited enroute. She discussed the planting of the flower

Lifeboat Becomes Young Passengers' Playhouse

In order to accustom the children aboard to the smallness of a lifeboat, officers of the passenger liner Georgic turned a lifeboat over to the youngsters to be their playroom during the dangerous Atlantic crossing. The Georgic was the first British passenger vessel to dock in New York since November 18, 1940. Earlier in the war it had been used as a British troop ship.

beds and the grounds of the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson. She interested the group also with her many pictures of these beautiful places.

Mrs. Harry Trego conducted the business session. Plans were made for a county-wide tea for March 20, with the Pickaway County Garden Club and the Deere Creek Garden Club asked for the occasion. Mrs. Roger Hedges was named general chairman for the tea which will be in the Ashville Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Hedges Hostess

Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Mrs. Don White and Mrs. George Barnes were guests Thursday when Mrs. Robert Hedges of Seyfert Avenue asked her club to her home for the evening.

When tallies were compared after several rounds of contract bridge, the prize for high score was carried home by Mrs. Barnes.

Mrs. Hedges served lunch at the card tables after the games.

Mrs. Sterling Lamb will be next club hostess.

Real Folks' Club

Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Minnie Debolt, Mrs. Samuel Dearth and two daughters were guests Thursday when nine members of the Real Folks' Club met for the February session at the home of Mrs. A. H. Shasteen, Elm Avenue.

Cross word puzzles, question and answer games were enjoyed during the afternoon which was concluded with a lunch.

Mrs. Howard McKee will entertain the club in March.

Ladies' Society

The Ladies' Society of Christ Lutheran Church held its February meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. George Kern of Jackson Township. Mrs. Kern was assisted by her daughter, Helen Margaret.

The Rev. George L. Troutman was in charge of the devotionals and the business hour. The missionary topic, "The Abundant Life" was read by Miss Bertha Krimmel and Mrs. George List.

The recent board meeting in Columbus of the Women's Missionary Association was reported by Mrs. Ralph Fisher.

The program presented by the hostesses began with a piano solo by Rosemary Fisher; reading, Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel; vocal solo, Mrs. Harold Fisher; reading, Miss Krimmel; vocal solo, Mrs. Paul Thompson.

Lunch was served to 20 members and guests.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Van Meter Hulse, Perry Township, with Mrs. Edward Hulse assisting.

Circle 6

Circle 6 of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church met Thursday in the social room with 12 members present for a covered dish lunch preceding the afternoon of sewing.

Mrs. P. Stanley Glick conducted the business session, plans being made for the March meetings. The first activity of the Circle for that month will be the luncheon at the meeting of the general W.S.C.S. organization of the church. This

Chinese Quintet Packed With Speed And Color
A more colorful aggregation than the Hong Wah Kues, all Chinese basketball team which meets the C.A.C.-Stone's Grill in the C.A.C. gym on Saturday night is not to be found in any sport.

Besides being especially talented basketball performers, the Chinese boys are extremely versatile and have compiled brilliant records in other sports, although they'd rather play in a cage game than eat.

Lee Bo Chin, the captain and center, is 23 years old and stands six feet in height. An all-city star at Lowell High School in San Francisco, he was born in Canton, China, but came to this country at an early age. Quan Gum Duck, a fast guard, also was born overseas—in Hong Kong—and, like his captain, came here early. He prepped at San Francisco's Galileo High School and starred in both basketball and football, having been a participant in Frisco's Chinese Rice Bowl in the latter sport.

Hing Tai Sun, forward, was an all-city cage selection at Galileo, captaining the team in his senior year. He holds the school's scoring record with 36 points in one game. Hing is also an accomplished boxer and went as far as the quarter-finals in the California state tournament one year.

One of the favorites with the team is Lee Wah Quong, guard. He's an outstanding basketball player from Sacred Heart High School in San Francisco and was the only Chinese ever to captain a Catholic High School team in that state. In 1937 he won the state boxing championship. He's the clown of the Hong Wah Kues and popular everywhere.

Lim Jue Nung, forward, was an all-city star at Lowell High and one of the best ball handlers in basketball. He also is outstanding as a swimmer and has won many cups and titles in that sport.

Lo Fay Yuen, made all-city at Galileo, besides being a letterman in track.

OWNER OF YANK TEAM EXPECTS TO DEFER STAR NEW YORK, Feb. 14—Although Jarrin John Kimbrough appeared headed for the Army, according to word from Texas, Owner Douglas Hertz of the New York pro football Yankees will play this coming season.

The Texas star was due in New York today to sign a $37,500 contract with the Yankees and Hertz said he will probably obtain army deferment.

"I fully expect that Kimbrough will obtain a deferment because he has dependents," Hertz said. "He is one of a large family and since his brother, Jack, will also enter the army on his graduation from Texas A. & M., the family will be to a great extent be dependent on John."

Hertz said John was excused from training last summer and as a result will be required to take a special six months course before receiving his army commission. These six weeks, plus the deferment, should carry him through the football season, Hertz said.

ILLINOIS TO TRY TO PUT BADGERS OFF TOP PLACE

Big Ten Teams In Action; Buckeyes Pin Hopes On Dick Fisher

CHICAGO, Feb. 14—The battle cry "Catch Wisconsin!" rang over the Western Conference today as all the Big Ten basketball teams prepared for action in tomorrow's full card of five games.

The pace-setting Badgers, with a record of six wins in seven games, takes on Illinois at Madison in tomorrow's headliner. After straight defeat by Purdue and Minnesota, the Illini got off the floor on Monday to hang a 55-29 wallop on Chicago, and they're given a good chance to halt the leaders.

Second-place Indiana, still very much in the race with five victories in six starts, takes on Minnesota in Bloomington in another important game. The Gophers, who have contributed a number of surprises during the season, could just about sink the Hoosiers' hopes with an upset.

Northwestern and Chicago will meet in a game in which the Maroons, beaten in all their games, will be given their seventh chance to win one. The Wildcats have won only one encounter. Purdue's defending champions will travel to Columbus to take on Ohio State, and Michigan goes against Iowa, at Iowa City to complete the schedule.

In addition to the battle for team places, tomorrow's schedule will see a renewal of the fight between Gene Englund of Wisconsin, and Dick Fisher of Ohio State for individual scoring honors. Englund currently leads with 92 points in seven games, but Fisher is only three points behind, with 89 in as many contests.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14—Ohio State today pinned its hopes of victory over a powerful Purdue team on Dick Fisher, runner-up in the Big Ten scoring race with 89 points.

However, along with Fisher the Bucks will also have a long-time "jinx" working in their favor when the Purdue five invades the coliseum court tomorrow night. Eighteen consecutive Big Ten opponents have bitten the dust on the fairgrounds hardwood over the last three campaigns and the Bucks "don't intend having" that record shattered.

AUDITOR PLACES PERSONAL AND CLASSIFIED TAX BLANKS IN MAIL

2,500 PICKAWAY COUNTIANS GET PAPERS FRIDAY

All Forms To Be Returned To Courthouse Prior To March 31

DISTRIBUTION LISTED

Officials Expect $50,000 To Be Gathered From Two Sources

Personal and classified tax blanks were mailed Friday to 2,500 taxpayers in Pickaway County.

The forms are to be answered and returned to the auditor's office before March 31, or a penalty starting at 10 percent and increasing to 30 percent will be levied, County Auditor Forrest Short pointed out.

Revenue from the personal tax is expected to approximate the amount collected last year, $34,873.94, with over $15,000 to be raised from the classified tax. Classified taxes last year totaled $15,616.21. Personal tax revenue goes to the townships and various county subdivisions for financing roads, public buildings or other public projects. Most of the classified tax goes to the library for the maintenance of the county library system and the county book truck.

Instructions Provided

In filling out the tax forms Auditor Short advised taxpayers to follow closely the instructions accompanying each form.

Most important are:

1. List property and values as of January 1, 1941, unless otherwise provided, and file the return with the county auditor between February 15 and March 31;

2. If the return is mailed, include a check made payable to the county treasurer for one-half of the tax;

3. Taxpayers engaged in business are required to file Balance Sheet Form 911 with their returns;

4. Taxpayers engaged in handling grain must file form 930-B;

5. A trustee, to the extent that he holds investments or other intangibles yielding income for the benefit of others, is not a taxpayer;

6. Beneficiaries of trusts are required to list the taxable income received through a trustee, in schedule 6-d.

Duplicate copies of returns must be furnished if the aggregate assessable amount or the value is $5,000 or more, or if the assessable income yield of productive investments is $500 or more. The word "none" shall be written in each schedule of the tax return if the taxpayer making return has no property to which the schedule is applicable. "Schedule attached" should be written in the particular schedule if any of the blank spaces on the tax return do not afford sufficient room. The schedule to be attached should be prepared in detail and attached securely to the return.

PRAISE HEAPED ON CHILlicothe YOUTH CENTER

Two prominent national authorities on youth questions visited the new Chillicothe Resident Center of the National Youth Administration Thursday and paid tribute to the work of county commissioners as sponsors and state and NYA officials as co-sponsors of the development.

Howard E. McCluskey, Washington, D. C., specialist for the American Youth Commission of the American Council on Education, and S. Burns Weston, assistant to chairman, National Advisory Committee of NYA, were shown through the center by Director Wesley Bowman.

Weston is former state NYA Administrator, and was succeeded last fall by Leo B. Jacobs.

Both officials were most impressed by the shops for providing practical work experience in metal and machine-shop operations for local young men. The center will enroll men between 18 and 25 years of age, who will live and work and study at the center for 6 months. After that time, they are expected to be qualified for employment in defense industries.

The center will be dedicated formally Saturday afternoon. The public is invited. The Veterans of Foreign Wars will present a flag and raise it in ceremonies scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Congressman H. K. Claypool has been invited to make the acceptance speech on behalf of the area. Congressman Claypool donated the flag for the center. It was formerly flown over the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C. He was active in Washington in getting the center located in Chillicothe.

LEGION MEMBERS ASKED TO SIGN UP FEBRUARY 22

Registration for local members of the American Legion will be held at the auditor's office on the afternoon of February 22, James Shea, Howard Hall Post commander, announced Friday.

The registration is purely voluntary and has no connection with the state or federal governments, Commander Shea said. It is merely a practical National Defense measure which will furnish the organization with a card index showing the names, addresses and qualifications of World War Veterans to be contacted in cases of possible emergency.

The local Legion's action follows the authorization of the 1940 National Convention and the November 21-22, 1940 meeting of the National Executive Committee of the American Legion.

YOUTHS WISHING PLACES IN CCC SHOULD SIGN UP

Applications for Pickaway County young men interested in going to a CCC camp during the period from February 18 to 28 are being taken at the Pickaway County relief office on West High Street.

During the year, four intermediate enrollments, which will occur in February, May, August and November, in addition to the regular quarterly enrollments in January, April, July and October, are being offered.

The purpose of the intermediate enrollments is to bring Ohio CCC camps up to full working strength in the period between regular enrollments.

CONCERT PLANNED

The Rev. and Mrs. Larason and son, Larry, will present a sacred concert at St. Paul's Evangelical Church Saturday at 7:30 p. m. The program will include an instrumental trio, piano duets and solos, vocal trio, duets and solos. The public is invited.

PUBLIC TO VOTE ON FREE ACTS

Pumpkin Show Society To Put Disputed Question Before Residents

Directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society, sponsors of the annual Pumpkin Show, have decided to put the question of free acts up to persons of the community who are interested in the fall festival.

Directors voted several weeks ago to abandon free acts, believing they could save most of the $500 that is spent annually for the entertainment and planning to replace them with local competition of one kind or the other. Later some of the Pumpkin Show officials met with John Enright, official of the Gooding Rides Co., who urged that the board rescind its action and plan free acts again.

A ballot appears in Friday's Herald which directors hope persons interested in the show will mark and submit to either The Daily Herald office, Betz Restaurant, the Seitz Music Store or to any of the directors of the Society.

Pumpkin Show Society To Put Disputed Question Before Residents

Directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society, sponsors of the annual Pumpkin Show, have decided to put the question of free acts up to persons of the community who are interested in the fall festival.

Directors voted several weeks ago to abandon free acts, believing they could save most of the $500 that is spent annually for the entertainment and planning to replace them with local competition of one kind or the other. Later some of the Pumpkin Show officials met with John Enright, official of the Gooding Rides Co., who urged that the board rescind its action and plan free acts again.

A ballot appears in Friday's Herald which directors hope persons interested in the show will mark and submit to either The Daily Herald office, Betz Restaurant, the Seitz Music Store or to any of the directors of the Society.
